About Town

And Country
By TIMOTHEUS T.

IT'S A FACT: Glendall Gene Bybee, our disabled magazine salesman who lives out on South Webster street, sent me a gift subscription to a magazine called Sunshine, and you could have knocked me over with a feather when I read that Reno, Nevada, is farther west than Los Angeles, Calif.

Now I know that some of you students of geography will say, "You dope, we've known that all the time."

But Timmo didn't know it. In fact I didn't believe it because I knew that the State of Nevada lies adjacent to California, to the east, and there is no state on the west side. Also I know that Los Angeles is on the western coast of California.

It did seem an incorrect statement to me; so I got out the Standard Atlas of the world to see for myself.

I can say right here that Sunshine is right. Reno, Nevada, is farther west than Los Angeles, California.

On the map of the United States I saw there is a longitude line marked 120 degrees that runs right alongside the city of Reno. But this same line on farther down runs three-eighths of an inch to the west of Los Angeles, which means that Reno is three-eighths of an inch farther west than L. A. On the scale of miles at the bottom of the map, I see that three-eighths of an inch is equal to nearly 100 miles.

The magazine also says that cypress wood will outlast granite, and the next thing we know, they'll be putting out cypress forests to throw the quarries out of business.

HUMOR DEPT.: Once there was a rich playboy with a weakness for fast automobiles. He went to the best car designer in Detroit and ordered a souped-up sports car for $25,000. He wanted it faster than any other car.

In a few months the super-speedster arrived and the playboy took it out for a trial run. He was just loafing around 60 when a motorcycle policeman pulled in behind him. The officer stayed right behind him as he eased up to 75.

After a few moments he stepped on the gas and the car jumped to 120 miles per hour. Then, after a couple of minutes, not seeing the officer, he began to worry and turned around.

After he had gone down the road a piece he saw the policeman crawling out of a ditch.

"What happened, officer?" he asked.

"Everything was going along all right when you were just going 75," the officer explained. "But when you pulled away from me so sudden I thought I was standing still and got off."

PARTING SHOT: There are no hopeless situations; there are only men who have grown hopeless about them.

Lar Daly Claims Endorsement Of Sen. McCarthy

CHICAGO (AP)—Lar (America First) Daly said today that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) has endorsed him in the nine-man race for the GOP nomination for U. S. senator.

Daly said McCarthy gave him his endorsement Thursday when the senator was here for a speech.

Activities of the candidates included: Supporters of Austin L. Wyman planned to send out seven automobile caravans to tour 88 cities from Waukegan to Cairo this weekend.

State Sen. Arthur J. Bidwell spoke at suburban Evanston in support of Joseph T. Meek. He predicted Meek will be one of the biggest vote-getters the party has ever had in the state.

Edward A. Hayes said he was campaigning for the nomination so that he could defeat Sen. Paul H. Douglas (R-Ill.) in the fall. Hayes charged Douglas was an "admirer of Karl Marx."

John B. Crane identified himself as an "Abraham Lincoln Republican," as distinct from a Taft or an Eisenhower Republican. Crane said that "although I support the Eisenhower program, I will never promise blindly to support the President 100 per cent. I am no rubber stamp politician. I believe that Ike makes mistakes."

Julius Klein said that President Eisenhower's meeting with Gen. Douglas MacArthur was a "good omen for the country."

Park Livingston appointed as head of his Cook County women's advisory committee Mrs. Alverta Stewart, who is state central committeewoman for the 13th Congressional District.

Demos Carry Fight for Tax Cut to Senate

Eisenhower Wins First Test as House Approves GOP Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Democrats moved their drive for a cut in income taxes to the Senate today where a nip-and-tuck battle is expected before the issue is settled.

Democrats were still hopeful despite the 210-204 vote by which the House defeated their plan late Thursday to boost income tax exemptions from $600 to $700 a year. The House went on to pass the GOP's general tax reform bill by a thumping 339-80.

The votes were a major victory for President Eisenhower who had gone all-out to defeat the Democratic proposal. He branded it "unsound" in a nationwide radio-television appeal Monday.

But the administration still has a fight on its hands in the Senate where most Democrats have lined up behind the proposal. The Senate vote—which may be weeks away—is expected to be close and generally along party lines.

Action Fortunate: Humphrey
Even if the plan passes the Senate where the Democrats have a one-vote edge over the Republicans, some key senators believe it almost certainly will not win final congressional approval in view of the House action.

Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey wired House Republican leaders that the action was "fortunate for the country" since the reform bill is the "cornerstone of the administration's program to make America a better country for us all."

House Speaker Joseph W. Martin Jr. said the vote shows the President is relying mainly on Republicans in Congress to "make his administration a success." In the decisive ballot defeating the Democratic plan, nine Democrats joined 201 Republicans to sustain the administration.

Vote Sure To Be Close

The Senate Finance Committee expected to approve a bill today providing for a billion-dollar slash in excise taxes. Some Democratic senators want to make their bid for higher exemptions when this measure is called up for debate.

But the major test is not expected to come until the Senate takes up the general tax reform bill which provides some relief for stockholders, working widows, and people with heavy medical expenses. And then the vote is sure to be close.

The Senate Democratic plan, sponsored by Sen. Walter F. George (D-Ga.), is more sweeping than the House proposal. It calls for raising exemptions to $800 this year and to $1,000 in 1955.

Only one Democrat, Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, has publicly opposed the George proposal. The Democrats also hold a 48-47 numerical edge over the Republicans, with the added advantage that Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) is expected to side with them.

Coal Production Drops Million Tons During February

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Illinois coal mines produced 3,146,806 tons in February, a million tons less than was produced in January and a half-million tons less than production in February, 1953.

The figures were reported by the State Mines and Minerals Department. Murrell Reak, assistant department director, said the February production slump resulted from a seasonal decrease in the need for coal.

Reak said the seasonal drop came earlier this year because of the mild winter. He said it usually does not occur before April.

There were 15,719 men who worked in the 121 reporting mines during the month, 98 fewer than worked in January.

Gov. William G. Stratton expressed interest Thursday in a proposed governor's conference on the coal industry suggested by Gov. John Fine of Pennsylvania.

Stratton said he would send a representative to a planning meeting that Fine is expected to call.

Tucson, Arizona Boys' Chorus Will Present Concert at HTHS on March 26

From the land of cactus and coyotes, canyons and cowboys, comes one of the unique new attractions of the American concert stage. It is the Tucson, Arizona Boys Chorus which will sing here on March 26 at the Harrisburg high school gymnasium under the auspices of the Harrisburg Community Concert association.

In choir vestments or cowboy jeans, the boys are beguiling in their program of classics, carols, folk songs, Mexican novelties and westerns sung with a superb blend of fine young voices. Their own highly original arrangements of songs of the Great Southwest, spiced with comedy and seasoned with calf bawls and coyote calls, give their program its distinctly American flavor and make it a round-up of music and fun for everybody.

The program that will be presented here is as follows: "How Lovely Are the Messengers," Mendelssohn; "Hospodi Pomiloi," Lvoysky; "O For the Wings of a Dove," Mendelssohn; "Alleluia," Mozart; "Echo Song," Di Lasso; folk songs, Mexican novelties and westerns sung with a superb blend of fine young voices. Their own highly original arrangements of songs of the Great Southwest.

Following an intermission the boys, dressed in western costumes, will present songs of the Southwest selected from Home on the Range, Blue Prairie, Lie Low Little Doggies, Cool Water, Tumbling Tumble Weeds, Blue Shadows on the Trail, Empty Saddles, Carry Me Home to the Lone Prairie, My Dusty Saddle, The Call of the Canyon, Ragtime Cowboy Joe, There's Silver on the Sage, and the Old Chisholm Trail.

The boys close the program by singing a medley of show tunes by Irving Berlin and Sigmund Romberg.

The group was founded by Director Caso in the fall of 1939. At first he found little encouragement among the people of the community. The concert got underway with only eight boys. But when they gave their first concert at Christmastime, many persons were impressed, not only with Caso's zeal and enthusiasm but also by what he had accomplished in so short a time. Largely with the help of parents, the organization was able to survive the first few difficult years, and gradually and steadily enrollment, interest and support increased.

Activities Expanded

Local radio station KVOA undertook to sponsor the boys and their broadcasts gained them many new friends. This led to the group's first national broadcast, over NBC on Christmas Eve of 1944. The program became an annual affair and the Chorus has since been heard on many radio and television stations.

The Foreign Office made it plain that so far as Britain is concerned, Winston will travel no more as a Communist correspondent reporting from behind enemy lines of troops fighting men from his homeland.

Winston wanted his expired passport renewed so he could travel to Geneva to report the forthcoming conference on Far Eastern problems from the Red side of the conference table.

Winston, in addition to sending dispatches to the Daily Worker had served as a mouthpiece for the North Koreans and Chinese Communists during the truce talks and prisoner exchanges.

American soldiers returning to freedom from Communist captivity last summer charged that the slender, effeminate Winston had attempted to indoctrinate them with Red propaganda.

HTHS Music Revue, 'Tin-Pan-Alley', Will Open Tonight

HTHS' music department will present its third fascinating revue entitled, "Tin-Pan-Alley" with the theme song "Moonlight Serenade" tonight and tomorrow night at 8:00 o'clock in Bonnell gym.

The setting for the revue will be Tin-Pan-Alley, located between Fifth and Sixth avenues on 28th street in midtown New York. Tin-Pan-Alley, noted as the fabulous street of song, winds its way through the very heart of the American scene.

The program of the revue will consist of popular music, singing, and dancing.

The revue, directed by Marshall Cuthran, HTHS band director, will be for the benefit of the band and for the purchase of band uniforms.

Spare Wheel And Tire Stolen

A spare wheel and tire were stolen from the auto of H. V. McDaniel last night while the car was parked at his home at Roosevelt and Lilly streets, he reported to county officers today.

B. E. McDaniel Dies in Accident At Carrier Mills

Shelburn, Ind., Man Is Killed in Fall While Taking Shower

An Indiana man visiting his sister near Carrier Mills met unusual death yesterday afternoon, apparently slipping and fatally injuring himself while taking a shower.

Bob E. McDaniel, 28, of Shelburn, Ind., Route 1, was the victim. He was found unconscious by his father under the shower in the basement of the home of his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McMillan, who live a mile west of Carrier Mills.

A coroner's inquest jury last night, meeting at the Miller funeral home in Carrier Mills, returned a verdict that death came as a result of an accidental fall while taking a shower.

The young man's father, Chester McDaniel, also of Shelburn Route 1, testified at the inquest.

Hear Noises

He said about noon his son decided to take a shower and they went to the basement together. The son remarked about the slope at the drain where the showers were taken and the father went outside. He said he heard his son say "Well, I'll be—" but thought nothing of it and went on upstairs.

There the family heard some funny noises, but knowing Bob to be a cut-up, thought he was making them deliberately while taking the shower.

Then another noise was heard and the father went downstairs to investigate. There he saw his son lying unconscious, his head sideways, arms outstretched, one foot straight out and the other one drawn, and his hips down in the drain.

He was picked up and taken upstairs, where he died several minutes later.

Body Returned to Shelburn

Mr. McDaniel testified that the boy had never suffered from heart trouble but that the body had a bad bruise on the right side and abrasions on the right chest and right arm. He believed his son could have fallen against a shelf and also a corner of the wall by the shower.

Parish Miller, funeral director, when asked his opinion of what caused the death, said he knew of nothing that could have caused it except a blow he could have received in falling.

The body was taken back to Shelburn immediately following the inquest.

It was learned that young McDaniel, his wife, Ann, their daughter, Daisy, 6, and his parents had come to Carrier Mills the day before on a visit. The young man had been employed at the Allis-Chalmers plant at Terre Haute, Shelburn is a short distance south of Terre Haute.

Gov't to Support Corn Crop at $1.62 Per Bushel

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today it will support the price of this year's corn crop in commercial producing areas at a minimum average of $1.62 a bushel.

In the non-commercial producing areas the rate will be about $1.22 a bushel. The $1.62 price—which compares with last year's average corn support of $1.60 a bushel—is 90 per cent of the mid-February parity "fair price" for corn. Areas in 22 states make up the commercial producing area which is under an acreage allotment program this year.

If corn parity is higher on Oct. 1, the beginning of the corn marketing year, the support levels will be increased accordingly. In no case will they be lower than today's announced levels.

To be eligible for price support in the commercial area, farmers must comply with acreage allotments which are down 17.4 per cent from 1953 plantings.

Shoulders' Wife Granted Divorce

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Mrs. Florence Shoulders was granted a divorce Thursday from Lt. Louis Shoulders, the St. Louis detective who broke the Greenlee kidnap-murder case.

Circuit Judge James F. Nangle said in a memorandum that she was "the injured and innocent" party and stipulated that Shoulders must pay her $300 a month and clear a $3500 indebtedness on her home.

Shoulders is under a perjury charge at Kansas City growing out of a grand jury investigation into the disappearance of $303,720 of the record $600,000 ransom paid for 6-year-old Bobby Greenlee.

Nangle, who had the divorce suit under advisement since a hearing Dec. 14, said the court had taken note of Shoulders' announced intention to marry Miss June Marie George, his landlady with whom he made a trip to Hawaii last year after the Hall-Heady trial.

Rains Help Put Out Forest Fires After 5,000 Acres Timber Burned in Area

BENTON, Ill. (AP)—Rain falling on Southern Illinois Thursday night helped put out forest fires which volunteer fire fighting crews brought under control after the scattered blazes burned about 5,000 acres of timber.

Forestry officials feared today, however, that winds might dry out the forests and fire danger would increase again.

Martin Anderson, district forester here, said rangers, foresters and volunteers fought about 30 fires Thursday.

The worst fire burned about 1,200 acres east of Du Quoin in the Little Muddy River bottoms and firefighters put out another blaze southeast of Du Quoin after it burned 60 acres in the middle of a 5,000-acre timber tract.

Anderson said a bad fire between Mount Vernon and Salem threatened several farm homes before it was brought under control by rangers, volunteers and Boy Scouts. They were aided by Salem firemen who pumped 3,000 gallons of water to save the houses.

Other large fires burned about 1,000 acres northwest of Fairfield in Wayne County and about nine fires destroyed roughly 1,000 acres in the Aden district in Hamilton County.

Anderson said spot fires jumping about 50 to 100 feet ahead of the main fire in Washington County near Nashville made it difficult for firefighters to get the fire under control.

Other small fires were reported in Perry County, in the southwest and southeast corners of southern Illinois and east of Centralia.

No fires were reported today after the rain, which brought about one-half inch of water to much of the Southern Illinois forests.

Worker Killed While Excavating Egypt Pyramid

SAKKARA, Egypt (AP)—Archaeologists blamed a loose boulder today and not the ancient "curse of the Pharaohs" for the first fatal accident in excavations here into the burial chamber of an almost forgotten ruler.

One worker was killed and two were injured at sundown Thursday when part of the 5,000-year old pyramid collapsed as they neared the burial chamber of King Sankht who ruled 3,000 years before Christ.

Some recalled the accidents that befell many of the men who excavated the tomb of King Tut-Ankh-Amen in 1922 and uncovered the hieroglyphic warning: "Death shall come on swift wings to him that defileth the tomb of a Pharaoh."

The victims of Thursday's accident were three of the 80 workmen removing sand and debris from a similar collapse untold years ago. The three climbed a ladder and their combined weight dislodged a loose boulder.

Other Strange Mishaps
The boulder tumbled down upon them, and crashed into a circular pit which the ancient Egyptians apparently dug to serve as a well. Shihata Abu El Ajwa, 17, was killed instantly. Two others were covered by debris but were rescued.

The accident recalled the strange mishaps surrounding the opening of "King Tut's" tomb at Thebes 21 years ago. Within 14 years 23 of the men who defied the legend were dead, some in strange accidents. The first was Lord Carnarvon who participated in the opening. He died after being bitten by a mosquito.

There was evidence that some accident had occurred in the Sankht tomb many years ago. Archaeologists chipped through an eight-foot wall closing the entrance, climbed 60 feet down a dark corridor and found a pile of rubble.

Proposition Carries In All Eight Precincts

Huge Reservoir Will Be Constructed In Galatia Area

The residents of the city of Harrisburg today turned their sights toward the Galatia area, where a huge reservoir will be constructed to give the community a three-year water supply when full.

Voters yesterday by a two and a half to one margin approved a $200,000 water revenue bond issue that will give the city its new water supply, build an addition to the filter plant and construct 3,000 feet of six-inch water mains in the city.

The complete, unofficial vote that will be canvassed next week was 2,301 for the project, 901 against it. The proposition carried in all of the eight city precincts.

Vote By Precinct

Pct.	For	Against
No. 1	229	81
No. 2	333	67
No. 3	423	159
No. 4	351	113
No. 5	438	195
No. 6	218	57
No. 7	184	175
No. 8	125	54

Totals 2,301 901

The majority was hailed by the Lake Harrisburg advocates and Lonnie Norris, chairman of the opposition, stated today that the citizens of Harrisburg have expressed in no uncertain terms that they favor Lake Harrisburg.

"I have always been for the betterment of Harrisburg and have stated that if the voters favored this project I would be as strong for it as I have been opposed to it."

Bond Purchase First Step
"I sincerely urge all who voted against Lake Harrisburg," he continued, "to unite with the majority and strive in every way to make it a successful undertaking for the betterment of this community."

"I wish to congratulate those who carried this project to a successful conclusion. Let's all proceed together, get the lake under construction as soon as possible, and boost for Harrisburg."

Following the canvass of the vote, the first step will be for Barcus-Kindred and Co., Chicago bond firm which has the contract to buy bonds, to approve the election and negotiate for the bonds which will give the city the $200,000 for the project.

The project calls for the purchase of around 500 acres of land in a natural watershed between Galatia and Raleigh with about 300 acres to be under water. When the lake is full, it is estimated, there will be enough water for present normal needs for three years and three months.

In Time For Fall Rains
In constructing the lake the wooded areas will first be cleared, and 110,000 cubic yards of dirt will be excavated in constructing a huge dam. There will be a spillway and gateways and the water will move by gravity down Middle Fork creek to be picked up by pipe near the reservoir. It is from Middle Fork that the city has got its best water since the present water system was installed.

It is estimated that the cost of the land will be $57,800 and that the lake construction cost will be $90,390, making the total lake cost $148,190. The filter plant addition and equipment will cost $43,890 and the extension of the city mains will be done for an estimated $7,920.

R. D. Brown, engineer, will proceed with the specifications for the lake and he said today he expects it to be finished in time for fall rains. The work will be done by contract, he stated.

Meanwhile, for the second consecutive day the city water department was pumping water from the emergency supply, Blue Lake, into the city mains.

McCarthy III, But Will Reply to Stevenson Tonight

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) was in bed with a case of virus laryngitis today but said he would deliver his counterattack against Adlai E. Stevenson despite the illness. His temperature had been 103.

Dr. Raulf Hanson examined McCarthy on his arrival here and said the senator had "a virus laryngitis with a sore throat and a high temperature. I strongly advise against his working" today and tonight, "but he insists he is going to."

McCarthy tonight will answer, in a speech before the Milwaukee Young Republican club, what he calls a personal attack upon himself by channel radio station WGN of Chicago, which is an affiliate of the Mutual Broadcasting System and the Chicago Tribune, will carry the speech in a non-network broadcast from 8:30 to 9 p. m. CST. WGN will also furnish the broadcast to seven other radio stations which requested it.

The broadcasting arrangements were the best the senator could get after the National Broadcasting Co. and the Columbia Broadcasting System refused to grant him free air time to answer Stevenson's recent Miami, Fla., speech.

Congressmen Demand Facts On H-Bomb

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman W. Sterling Cole of the Joint House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee said today that "greater precautionary steps" will be taken before more atomic weapons are tested in the Pacific.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Demands mounted among worried congressmen today that the government give Americans more facts about the "almost unbelievable destructive" power of the hydrogen bomb now being tested in the Pacific.

There were some dissents, however, and it seemed unlikely the Atomic Energy Commission would comply. Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.), a member of the Joint House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee, back from the Bikini-Eniwetok atomic proving ground, expressed concern that people do not yet comprehend the H-bomb's awful abilities.

"Under wraps" himself as a result of his official visit to the test site, Holifield called for lifting of the security curtain that has blacked out official information about atomic experiments.

On the other side of the Capitol, Chairman Alexander Wiley of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee took note of widespread unofficial reports on the staggering implications of the H-bomb and told the Senate, "It is incumbent on the government to inform the people of the facts."

Two Senate members of the joint atomic committee, Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM) and Guy Cordon (R-Ore.), took issue with Wiley. They urged him not press too hard for further public disclosures. They said Russia also wants the information.

Rep. James E. Van Zandt (R-Pa.), another committee member who said earlier the Bikini test turned loose destruction equal to 12,000,000 to 14,000,000 tons of TNT, estimated that a similar blast over Washington would have obliterated the city.

Tucson Boys' Chorus To Sing Here March 26

sion programs over NBC, ABC and other national facilities.

As the fame of the group spread so did its activities. Invitations to appear outside of their home town, on such occasions as the celebrated Easter Sunrise Service at the rim of the Grand Canyon, soon developed into full concert tours, first of the state, then of the entire Southwest, from Texas to Southern California. The Tucson Optimists club took over the sponsorship of the Chorus and then the Elks Lodge. By 1950 the entire city recognized Case's singing cowboys as one of its most creative institutions and the Chorus was incorporated as an independent, non profit, non sectarian organization, administered by a board of directors comprising many of Tucson's most distinguished citizens.

They sent the boys to represent the state on Arizona Day at the Chicago Fair that year and the Chorus won the appellation from one Windy City newspaper as "The finest walking advertisement a city ever had."

From eight boys, Director Caso has now built his Chorus into an organization of over 100 choristers between the ages of 8 and 16. There are approximately 30 in the senior group, 50 in the intermediate, and 20 in the junior. The touring chorus which will be heard here Friday evening, March 26, is made up of approximately 30 of the best voices from the senior and intermediate groups.

Mr. Caso was born in England and educated at London's famous Westminster School. He also studied singing at the Paris conservatory. For some years he both taught and coached music and dramatics at several of England's most noted private schools, including Eton.

Caso moved to Tucson in 1937 for the sake of his health and there revived an idea which had long lain dormant in his mind. As a schoolboy in London he used to hear every day the treble pipings of the choristers at the great Westminster Abbey Choir School, and ever since then he had nourished the ambition to lead his own chorus some day.

All of his training and experience had fitted him for the undertaking and in Tucson he found the opportunity.

UN Hints Reds Smuggling Arms Into North Korea

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP)—The United Nations charged today the Communists were making "ridiculous" reports on the number of weapons they are shipping into North Korea.

A statement from the U. N. Armistice Commission, strongly hinted that the Reds are smuggling arms into the war-torn peninsula in violation of terms of the Korean armistice.

Rear Adm. Albert E. Jarrel, speaking for the commission said the Communists have admitted sending only 10 weapons, 40 rounds of ammunition and an "insignificant quantity" of spare parts to their armies in Korea since the armistice.

To wash the scum off shower curtains, soak them first in the bath tub and then scrub with a fine brush and soapy water.

Ciucci Receives 20 Year Sentence For Killing Wife

CHICAGO (AP)—Vincent Ciucci, 28, sentenced to 20 years for the slaying of his wife, today faced three more indictments accusing him of murdering his three children.

Chief Prosecutor Sam Papanek said after the verdict was read Thursday that Ciucci will be "tried again and again and again until he receives a sentence he deserves."

State's Atty. John Gutknecht said previously if the defendant received a sentence lighter than death there would be future trials. Ciucci was found guilty by a Criminal Court jury on a charge of murdering his wife.

She was found shot to death along with the couple's three chil-

122 Traffic Deaths In State in February

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Traffic accidents caused 122 deaths on the Illinois highway system in February, the State Highway Division has announced.

The fatality toll was down 6 cent from the 130 persons killed in February, 1953. The fatality total for the first two months of the year was 276, compared to 290 for the year 1953 period.

The dark-haired grocer claimed he was innocent throughout the stormy 14-day trial. But the prosecution charged he shot his wife and children with a small caliber rifle and then set the apartment on fire.

The state accused the grocer of doing away with his family in order to marry Carol Amora, 20, who said she bore him a child during an illicit romance. Ciucci remained silent when the verdict was pronounced. But as he hurried through the corridors later he caught sight of his father Frank. He clutched at his throat and sobbed to his father, "I didn't do it, Pop, I didn't do it."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

The Lord God said, it is not good for man to be alone, I will make him an helpmeet. — Gen. 2:18. The race would speedily perish. Marriage is God's way of ensuring perpetual renewing of the human race. It is a solemn responsibility, but some utterly ignore their responsibility to future generations and look on marriage as a selfish contract not worth the paper it is written on.

Stevenson Says Non-Aggression Pact is Possible

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Adlai E. Stevenson said Thursday night that a non-aggression pact with the Soviet Union might be possible now that the Western coalition has achieved a balance of power with the Russians.

The pact could be between Russia, a unified Europe and the United States and Britain, the 1952 Democratic presidential candidate told a Harvard university audience.

The objective of the free nations, he said, "is neither war nor victory, but the opportunity for all to work out their own destiny in independence and freedom," while that of the Soviets is victory without war.

The former Illinois governor predicted that Soviet military adventures in the West are "most unlikely." Like a "bookie," he said, the Reds will run risks but will not risk everything.

"On such an appraisal of a fearful, cautious, stubborn and implacable adversary, the uneasy, unsatisfactory status quo must be maintained until some solution can be found to the basic problem of a divided Europe, which is a divided Germany," he said.

TIME TO GO TO WORK, SON TELLS STEVENSON

MILTON, Mass. — While at Milton Academy visiting his son John, Adlai Stevenson said the boy asked if he were making money while traveling around the nation making speeches.

"I told him I wasn't making money but serving the public welfare," Stevenson said.

"Well, Dad," he quoted the youth, "don't you think it's about time you got a job?"

Twenty-one women from the Rosiclare club modeled on a long platform extending through the audience of over 200. Eight little girls modeled clothes from the children's department. Mrs. John Towle served as commentator.

Preceding the show a young boy, Curless Hollman, entertained with a song, and between the showings of the spring clothing and the summer cottons, Mrs. Clara Wilson and Mrs. Jackie English gave a skit.

The tables were decorated with open face sandwiches and dainty cookies. Mrs. John Duffey, Rosiclare, was in charge of the affair.

Mrs. Towle was accompanied to Rosiclare by Mrs. Adrian Rice and Mrs. Rose Sanderson.

Dirt Storms Pollute Skies In the Midwest

By United Press

An improbable combination of dust drifts and snow banks covered much of the Great Plains today, just one day before the official end of winter.

Dirt storms, carried on winds up to 50 miles per hour, polluted the sky in parts of the Midwest, and snow storms were general throughout South Dakota, western Nebraska, northwest Kansas, northeast Colorado and eastern Wyoming.

The dust storms began Thursday as dirt from west Texas, western Oklahoma and southeastern Colorado was whirled as far north as South Dakota, turning the sky a strange yellow.

"What's left of Kansas and Oklahoma?" a resident of Benkelman, Neb., asked as bulldozers scraped away heaps of dirt in that town.

At Lead, S. D., a doctor's 5-year-old daughter took a look at the dust-filled sky and told her mother "It looks like the whole world has yellow jaundice."

A small twister hit about 15 miles northwest of Manhattan, Kan., and damaged farm buildings. The tornado caused no injuries.

George Sand said, "When tempted, yield at once, and save yourself the struggle."

Rolling 'Quake Hits California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A "rocking chair" earthquake was felt throughout Southern California early today in a gentle rolling motion that caused only minor damage, according to police reports.

The tremor was recorded at 1:54 a. m. CST by seismologist Fred Robinson in San Diego. He said it apparently was centered northeast of San Diego and followed a coastal fault with a north-south motion. It lasted 6 minutes.

Police in desert cities all reported the quake had a rolling motion. Their descriptions ranged from "really strong" to "very weak."

The most serious report came from police in San Bernardino, about 60 miles east of Los Angeles. The quake apparently broke power lines there causing a temporary blackout in one section of the city.

Alton Park Commission Fund Short $58,000

ALTON, Ill. (AP) — Authorities today investigated a shortage of almost $58,000 in the city's park commission fund which was disclosed by a routine request for a report of funds.

Mayor Leo Struif said he made the request to study the municipal financial situation. However, the city clerk found that no financial reports were available from the park commission.

Struif said the partial audit disclosed cancelled checks showing that Brown had paid himself varying amounts going as high as $800 a month as far back as 1942.

The secretary was not bonded and the loss was not covered by insurance, the mayor said. A month or more will be needed to complete the audit, he said.

Art Houtteman Makes Strong Bid to Oust Feller From Indians 'Big Four'

By United Press — Art Houtteman, the trim right-hander with a penchant for fast curves and automobiles, made a strong bid today to oust Bob Feller from the Cleveland Indians' "big mound four."

With three strong Grapefruit League performances under his belt, the 26-year-old "hard luck kid of the majors" easily shaped up as the Indians' most effective pitcher this spring. Feller, meanwhile, was hammered for six runs in three innings in his initial outing and Manager Al Lopez admits the once-great strikeout artist no longer can pitch every fourth day.

Houtteman, acquired last June 15 in an eight-player deal with the Detroit Tigers, turned in his third powerful showing Thursday when he limited the Baltimore Orioles to a single run in three innings. Including six shutout innings in his previous stints, he has a spring record of having yielded a single run in nine innings.

Dodgers Beat Yankees
Houtteman's spring form is especially interesting to Lopez because a comeback by Art would make it possible to spot the 35-year-old Feller more effectively. Lopez then could rotate Houtteman with Bob Lemon, Mike Garcia and Early Wynn—all strong-armed—and reserve the cunning but aging Feller for spot assignments.

Rookie Don Fracchia wasted Houtteman's fine effort Thursday when he yielded seven runs in the seventh and eighth innings as the Baltimore Orioles rallied for a 7-6 triumph. The erstwhile St. Louis Browns now have won 10 games and lost only two in the Grapefruit League.

Twenty-game winner Carl Erskine pitched one-run, five-hit ball for six innings as the red-hot Brooklyn Dodgers beat the New York Yankees, 4-1, for their ninth straight triumph. It was the fifth straight loss and the ninth in 12 games for the Yankees who seem determined to verify General Manager George Weiss' charge of complacency.

The Philadelphia Athletics' seven-game winning streak came to an end when infielder Fred Marsh hit a ninth-inning home run off rookie Cookie Sempel to give the Chicago White Sox a 5-4 verdict. The Athletics left 13 runners on base as Manager Eddie Joost continued his policy of playing half the game with regulars and half with substitutes.

Around the camps: Willie Mays of the New York Giants, Frank Thomas of the Pittsburgh Pirates and Jim Fridgey of the Orioles tied for the Grapefruit League leadership with five homers each. . . . first-baseman Earl Torgeson contributed a triple, double and two singles as the Philadelphia Phillies out-slugged the Milwaukee Braves, 12-10.

The Cincinnati Reds collected 15 hits off an assortment of five St. Louis Cardinal pitchers and rolled to a 9-2 victory. The Reds scored two runs in the first, two more in the second, a lone tally in the fourth then "blew the game open" with a four-run seventh inning rally.

St. Louis' two runs came in the opening inning. Ken Raffensberger of the Cincinnati

Giardello is Slight Favorite Over Troy Tonight

NEW YORK — Slickster Joey Giardello and relentless Willie Troy meet tonight at Madison Square Garden in a 10-round middleweight "natural" that has attracted more attention than many a title fight.

Advance sales indicated more than 10,000 fans and $40,000, best Garden figures for 1954, although the bout will be televised and broadcast nationally.

Betting was terrific, with Giardello of Philadelphia favored slightly at 13-10. However, Troy of New York and formerly of Washington had such heavy backing there was no certainty about his being an underdog at fight time.

It is a significant clash. An impressive victory by either might earn a summer title shot. Twenty-three-year-old Giardello, ranked second among the world's 160-pound contenders, was favored slightly because of his experience, speed, skill, footwork and rapid-fire combinations.

But seventh-ranked Troy, 21, was robustly supported because of his persistent driving attack, his stamina and his apparently superior punch that sends him into the ring boasting seven straight knockouts.

A blowout patch may cause wheel shimmy in an automobile by throwing the tire out of balance. These patches also chafe fabric and long use of them often ruins tires beyond repair.

nati Redlegs, who sprained his right ankle last Monday, was slated to resume training today — Johnny Pesky singled home the winning run in the eighth inning to give the Detroit Tigers a 1-0 win over the Boston Red Sox.

Harrisburg Nine To Practice Sunday In Outdoor Session

The Harrisburg Baseball club will hold its first outdoor practice Sunday at 1:30 p. m. at the town park diamond. Due to various reasons several positions will be open to new candidates, and the management urges a good turnout to these pre-season practice sessions.

Looking AT Sports

By BILL MELTON
I had the good fortune to be among the more than 6,000 fans that crowded into George Huff gym for the first day's play of the state basketball tournament. James Reid of Carrier Mills and I went up together.

Tournament time is "old home week" at the University of Illinois and I saw lots of people I knew, but not nearly as many as Reid. He is a former school teacher, coach and still active as a cage official and knows people from one end of the state to the other. He was as busy saying hello and shaking hands as a candidate on election eve.

Most of the pre-tourney talk seemed to favor Pinckneyville and DuSable, but of course all 16 schools had its home town following. With DuSable not scheduled until the second day of play Pinckneyville was getting most of the attention Wednesday. The News-Gazette streamered its front page with "Go-Favorite P'ville Opens Bid" and had a three panel picture of Pinckneyville Coach "Duster" Thomas gazing into a crystal ball to see what the future holds. In the first panel Thomas looks pleased and apparently sees good news for his team—in the center he has a look of astonishment as the picture gets a little gloomy for the Pins then in the third picture he has a look of amazement. Says the cut lines — "mizgawsh — he must see DuSable!"

Even though Pinckneyville was cast in the role of favorite and my personal wish would be for either the Pins or Mt. Vernon to take the title, must say that in opening round play neither looked as impressive as Thornton. Maybe the opposition had lots to do with the way Thornton performed, but the team sure looked like the class of the first eight teams to play.

Big Russ McKibben, a 6-3½ junior, was the standout player on this well balanced Thornton club, also featuring another big lad, 6-2 Rod Hanson, a senior. Both boys could move in a hurry, played the boards well and shared the pivot spot. Both could hit equally well.

The big question seemed to be—how well can this Thornton club perform against the methodical play of Pinckneyville.

The tourney opened with Mt. Vernon, paced by Albert Avant, taking a 61-54 decision from Danville. Danville stayed with the Rams all the way and the turning point of the game seemed to come with Clark entering the Mt. Vernon lineup. Clark played an aggressive game and sparked Mt. Vernon in the late stages.

Bright spot in the Danville lineup was Frank Estes, a 5-11 senior guard, who could do just about everything required of a basketball player and do it well. In addition to rebounding well and playing a fine floor game he came up with 18 points. Other players to grab the spotlight on opening day included Bill Laude and Bob Pellant of East Rockford; George Kenney and Pete Beardsley of Springfield; Lloyd Eggers, Cumberland; John Meyers and Whitey Verstrate, Moline.

Picking an outstanding performer in the Pinckneyville lineup is a little difficult. Maybe that's why the team wins—team play and no one outstanding star. However if one player stood out Wednesday night it must have been Jim Lazenby, 5-11 guard and a junior.

The cheering sections and cheerleaders hardly came up to state tournament expectations. Pretty much routine stuff with the yells and actions along the same lines as seen most all year. However, maybe they were saving the showing cheering for later games. Moline and Springfield were definitely tops in the cheering league.

As mentioned in the beginning, this is just a little of this and a little of that, based on observations of first day play only. But did have a chance to see the coach and three players of the DuSable team on TV.

The DuSable coach and two of the players said a few words and then Paxton Lumpkin, probably the most discussed player in the tourney, took over. Lumpkin is a senior, standing 6 feet and weighs 160. He went into a dribbling act, to music, that was a real show. Of course it was strictly solo, but he displayed ball handling technique that is the best I had seen, other than that on the Harlem Globe Trotters, and don't be surprised if that is his next stop.

8 Teams Battle Today for Semifinal Berths in Sweet 16; Mt. Vernon Meets Moline; Pinckneyville Plays Thornton

CHAMPAIGN — Eight sturdy survivors clash today for semifinal berths in the Illinois prep basketball tourney. There still was no clear-cut favorite, despite two days of first-round play which slashed the field from the original "Sweet Sixteen" to half that size.

But in numbers alone, northern Illinois was in a good position to pocket its fourth state title in a row. Four teams from northern counties were still in the running — Moline, Thornton, DuSable and Barrington.

There were three teams left from the southern section—Pinckneyville, Mount Vernon and Edwardsville. Quincey's Blue Devils were the only remaining representative of central Illinois, which has gone without a state title since Paris won it in 1947.

Four quarter-final matches were on the agenda today and tonight. The winners will advance to the semi-finals Saturday afternoon, followed by the game that will decide the title Saturday night.

Rams Play Moline
Mount Vernon's Rams take on Moline in today's opener. Then Thornton will try to solve the Pinckneyville ball control game which has proved unbeatable to 31 of the Panthers' 33 foes.

Tonight the Quincey Blue Devils will collide with unbeaten DuSable, seeking to bring Chicago its first state crown. Barrington and Edwardsville tangle in the final quarter-final game.

Results of the four first-round contests run off Thursday pretty much followed the form sheet. Quincey pulled a 64-60 decision out of the fire from Princeton. DuSable broke loose in the final nine minutes to swamp little Bowen 87-64. Barrington whipped a flustered Litchfield five 57-38, and Edwardsville topped Peoria Central 60-54.

PRINCETON TIGERS GIVE QUINCY A SCARE
Sinking a phenomenal 68 per cent of its field goal attempts, Princeton's Tigers threw a real scare into Quincey in the first half by piling up a 39-32 lead.

Big Joe Ruklick contributed 12 points and Stan Peterson, recently sidelined with the mumps, came in with 9 to help the Tigers build up their half-time edge. Center Tom Payne kept Quincey in the running with 15 points in the opening half. But Princeton's uncanny shooting couldn't last and the Tigers went cold in the third period. Six-foot one-inch guard Gene Holler, meanwhile, went on a 15-point third period spree for Quincey and the Blue Devils pulled up to a 52-51 deficit when the quarter ended.

Payne and Ruklick traded scores. The turning point came midway in the third period, when Barrington was leading, 32-27. The Broncos poured in 8 quick points on shots by guards Roy Dewitz and Elmer Saveley and Craig Oberst to move out in front, 40-27.

The teams traded baskets from there on and the Barrington lead proved insurmountable to the Purple Panthers. Litchfield center Ron Pursell, one of the classiest players in the tournament, won scoring honors with 16 markers. Dewitz and Oberst each claimed 15 points for the victors.

EDWARDSVILLE-PEORIA IN NIP-AND-TUCK DUEL
Edwardsville and Peoria Central fought a nip-and-tuck duel from the opening tip-off to the final gun, both teams shaping up as among the tourney's toughest.

Each team appeared to be well drilled in setting up a defense against the other's attack and almost three minutes went by before the first field goal was registered. At the quarter Edwardsville held a 10-6 lead, and at the half it was 22-12 in the Tigers' favor.

Sparked by 6-foot 4-inch Harold Douglas and 6-foot 5-inch Alan Swanson, Central countered the scoring thrusts of Edwardsville's Bob Gregor and Don Ohl and the third period ended with Central behind, 37-33.

But Douglas and Swanson both had picked up four fouls and got their fifth personals in the final minutes, forcing them out of the lineup. Meanwhile Ohl, Edwardsville's playmaker, tossed in 10 points in the fourth quarter to ice the game.

Ohl had 26 for the game and Gregor, who measures 6 feet 3 inches and weighs 205, got 18 for the winners. Swanson picked up 14 and Leon Hurst, who played forward and center, had 15 for Peoria.

Lucco to Conduct Baseball Sessions At SIU March 26
CARBONDALE, Ill. — Joe Lucco, Edwardsville high school coach, will conduct the baseball sessions at Southern Illinois University's sixth annual spring sports clinic March 26.

Lucco, a coach for 20 years, guided his basketball team to the state finals this season and has taken baseball teams to the state three times in the past seven years. He has worked as head coach at the Big State baseball camp in Meridian, Tex., for the past three summers and has instructed at the Salem, Mo., Ozark baseball camp.

Sharing the program with Lucco will be Russ Deason of Lyons Township high school of LaGrange. Deason will handle the track and field sessions. Registration for the one-day clinic will begin at 8 a. m. March 26 in Southern's University school.

Driver Licenses Revoked
Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter today announced the revocation of 165 driver licenses, chauffeur licenses or driving privileges. Included among those who had their driver licenses revoked were Clarence Lee Gatham, Eldorado, Phillip E. Gebauer, RFD 2, Golconda, and James Otto Rush, RFD 1, Eddyville.

The first oil pipe line was of wood construction, five miles long, and had a capacity of 800 barrels daily.

in the first 2-1/2 minutes of the closing period, Payne picking up 7 to Ruklick's 3. That gave Quincey a 58-55 lead it never relinquished. Payne tallied 25 points and Holter 23 for the Blue Devils, while Ruklick wound up with 24 to top Princeton.

DU SABLE RUNS AWAY FROM BOWEN, 87-64
Bowen, the only district tournament winner that lasted to the state championship tournament, gave touted DuSable an unexpected fight for most of three quarters but then the roof fell in.

It was 49-49 with a minute to go in the third period. The racehorse crew from DuSable let loose with 12 straight points before Bowen could get back into the scoring column.

That broke the back of the Hancock county team. DuSable ran away with the game and the final score of 87-64 was only 1 point short of the record for a winning team in the tourney and but two less than the record total for both teams in a single game.

Bowen's surprising start against the Panthers was due largely to yeoman work by 6-foot 2-inch center John Hensen, who grabbed far more than his share of rebounds, and to fine shooting by Don Totsch.

Totsch, a 6-foot forward, dumped in 13 points in the first half and finished with 20. Big man for DuSable was center Shellie McKilloh with 24, closely followed by Sweet Charlie Brown with 23.

BARRINGTON DEFEATS LITCHFIELD PANTHERS
The Litchfield-Barrington match was billed as a close fight and, had not the Litchfield team been bothered by the flu bug, the final score might well have been much closer.

Both Wayne Sawyer, one of the Panthers' mainstays, and Jim McLaughlan were ill with intestinal flu this week but played anyway. Barrington, a big team that has lost only once this season, moved into a 17-14 first period lead over Litchfield and maintained this pace at the half at 25-22.

The turning point came midway in the third period, when Barrington was leading, 32-27. The Broncos poured in 8 quick points on shots by guards Roy Dewitz and Elmer Saveley and Craig Oberst to move out in front, 40-27.

The teams traded baskets from there on and the Barrington lead proved insurmountable to the Purple Panthers. Litchfield center Ron Pursell, one of the classiest players in the tournament, won scoring honors with 16 markers. Dewitz and Oberst each claimed 15 points for the victors.

Leahy Accepts Sales Position as Vice President

TAMPA, Fla. — Frank Leahy, recently resigned football coach of Notre Dame, today entered the business world as a vice-president in charge of sales.

Leahy, who has been vacationing here for the past week, announced Thursday night that he has accepted that position with the Exothermic Alloys Sales and Service Inc., a Chicago firm. He was scheduled to leave here this morning for an afternoon meeting in Cleveland, presumably with officials of the firm.

John J. Grady, president of the company, is a long-time friend and neighbor of Leahy. Leahy said he would visit Notre Dame "whenever I can," but emphasized that his appearance there from now on would be only as "an interested spectator."

Leahy resigned as head coach of the Fighting Irish at the end of the 1953 season because of poor health. He had suffered attacks of acute pancreatitis during the season.

Joanne Dru and Tony Curtis in a romantic moment from the new Universal-International film "Forbidden," to show at the Orpheum Friday and Saturday.

Mark Richards, Detective Lieutenant of the Colorado City Police, was terrified. His normally tanned face, with the deep lines on either side of his wide mouth, was slightly green. His pug nose, which usually gave him a semblance of boyishness, only added now to the impression of dissolution. His short black hair was in more than usual disarray.

"Pull yourself together, Mark," Jim said. "This is your wedding, remember? Cheer up. Other people have done it and lived."

Richards tried to smile and the general effect was enough to make Jim wince.

"Joan would change her mind if she could see you now," Dunn said. "Get your mind off yourself for a change. Look at me. Striped pants, this silly coat, and all the rest. You couldn't get this done quietly. Not you! Strictly formal. Church wedding, reception at the Holts' afterward."

"You look awfully pretty," Mark Richards tried feebly.

"A little better," Jim admitted. "I just hope the quick alterations in these clothes hold together." It seemed everyone in Colorado City was packed into the church to witness this union of Joan Carpenter, granddaughter of old Mary Holt, pioneer and part founder of the city, to a man to whom many referred simply as "that policeman."

Jim Dunn decided it was time for drastic action. He unearthed a bottle he had thoughtfully hidden in a pot of plant, and administered some to Mark.

"A fine thing," Jim went on. "A city cop—even if it's a little place like Colorado City—having to call in a private detective from Denver to be his best man! Remember now, you're a tough boy. You chew cigars—well, cigarettes." Mark smiled but it was obvious he was not listening. "You—you have the ring?"

Jim did not bother to answer. He had already offered concrete proof of the ring's safety at least 15 times in the many minutes.

A prim-faced usher poked his head inside the door, sniffed disapprovingly, said, "Ready, gentlemen?"

Jim Dunn moved the bottle from his right to his left hand, returned Richard's clasp. "If it wasn't for me, you'd be running like a scared rabbit right now."

The door was opened wide by the usher. The strains of the wedding march came more clearly.

"Hep! Hep! Let's go," Jim was glad he at least was calm and collected.

"Pssssst!" The usher was pointing.

Jim did not falter in his stride. He handed the bottle to the usher. "Sorry. Didn't know you were thirsty." The music rose triumphantly.

Nancy, in Jim's estimation, was nearly perfect. In the first place he considered her five-foot height a fitting contrast to his own six-three. She was perfectly proportioned, her black hair carefully waved, her dark, large eyes sparkled with her inward animation. Also, Nancy had a brain she used. As society editor of the Colorado City Flume, she was well aware of happenings in one level of local life. As daughter of Otto Drover, Chief of Police, she was equally well informed of events in another.

And, on occasions when the two worlds overlapped, her knowledge could be invaluable.

"I like to cry at weddings," she admitted. "And this one especially was—well, so sweet. You could just tell how they felt. So—so dedicated."

"Maybe," Jim said.

"And speaking of weddings. Do you know this is the fifth time I've been a bridesmaid?"

"You know. I was thinking. About it might be a nice idea to make this a double wedding."

"You really think you're safe to bring the subject up now?" Nancy demanded.

"That was before I realized how much a man suffered," Dunn went on quickly. "Today has been a lesson to me, opened my eyes. It's a terrible thing to see. A man trapped, wavering on the brink, facing—"

"Oh, shut up," Nancy said. "There's Dad over there by the door. Come on, I want to talk to him, and then I'll introduce you to a few people."

Nancy went through a crowd much like a subsoil plow breaking virgin ground, leaving a momentary furrow of astonished guests.

He reached Nancy again in the hallway near the front door. Her father, a little too heavy for his 63 years, had warmth in his eyes for his daughter, and for Jim a glint which would have chilled a frozen cod. It wasn't, as Dunn had assured himself, anything really personal. Drover simply had a low opinion of cops, an even lower opinion of private detectives, and a specially built, extra low compartment for a private cop interested in Nancy.

The two men exchanged one brief pumping motion which ended on the downward swing so their shoulders snapped back to their sides with a minimum of lost effort.

"Nice seeing you again," Jim said.

"Yeah," Drover said. "You look pretty in those pants."

"Thank you. But really you should see me when I'm dressed up. A fine figure of a man," Jim said modestly.

"Stop it! Both of you," Nancy said.

Drover patted his daughter's shoulders, and Nancy was quick enough to brace herself for the show of affection.

"Whatever you say, Nancy," Drover said. "Now, I have to go—an appointment." He turned away, hesitated, faced the couple again.

"Dunn, wonder if you'd mind dropping into headquarters late on?"

"He glad to," Jim said heartily.

Nancy had made good on her promise to introduce him to some people.

They had started with His Honor, Mayor Edward Stone. They had worked through the city fathers, the dowagers, the prominent people from pioneer families to the owner of the local pool hall.

Jim looked at all the people having fun. He decided to stay where he was until he could make a complete escape.

A man in a blue serge suit was moving slowly and purposefully through the crowd. He did not need a uniform to proclaim the fact he was a policeman.

Not until the man was quite close did Jim recognize the man as Tim Early.

Early saw Dunn at about the same moment, and the two men made short work of dividing the last barrier of people still between them.

"Early," Jim said. "What's up?"

"Sergeant Early," he said automatically. "Nancy—Miss Drover. You know where she is?"

"Around. We'll find her. What happened?"

Tim Early wet his lips. He kept his voice low, but it was filled with anger, hurt, and a strange bewilderment. "Right in front of the Nugget Theater. Right in the middle of a crowd. Two men with snaggle teeth. Big, buck teeth."

Jim grabbed the officer's shoulder. "Snap out of it! Tell me!"

Early swallowed, swallowed again before he could get out the words. "Chief Drover. Stabbed to death."

Hand Fertilization
The pollen of the double-fringed petunia has to be put on by hand because the plant has lost its ability to fertilize itself. The yield of seed is almost infinitesimal.

Cantatas and operas differ in that a cantata is a musical drama sung without costume, scenery or action, while those things are present in an opera.
